2. Dear Dr. Frank Smith,

I'm writing about the vet technician job at your animal hospital. You are still looking for one, aren't you?

I saw the job on dreamjobs.com, and I think that I meet all your needs. I have worked as a vet technician for the past five years. That is more than twice as many years of experience as in the posting, isn't it? In that time, I have done both simple and difficult procedures on all kinds of animals, not just cats and dogs. Also, I did a lot of them without the vet's help.

Over the years, I have not only treated the animals but also helped their owners. For them, taking their pets to the vet can be a hard time, so I do everything possible to make them feel at ease. The animals mean everything to them, don't they?

At the moment, I'm working for a young vet at a small clinic. Although he knows I can do the simple procedures without any problem, he chooses to do everything himself. So, I haven't used my skills for some time now, have I? I can't continue like this, so I would like the chance to meet and discuss my coming to work for you.

Sincerely,
Abby Normal

3. Good afternoon, everyone. Thank you for taking time out of your busy days to come and hear me speak today. I'm very excited about presenting my topic, and I believe you will find it is interesting, too. Some of you have heard of it before, but for others, it's really new.

I shall start things off with a question.

Who has used a computer to go on the Internet before? I can see by your show of hands that everyone has. This means that all of you already know something about cloud computing, even though you might not know the name.

When you are going online and look for something on Google, you are using the cloud. When you are using online software to keep all your photos in order and in one place, you are using the cloud, too. In other words, you are using software and renting storage space from service providers over the Internet.

Businesses can use the cloud, too. One way is to pay for the service in the same way as with water every month. Another is to pay one price for the year. Both ways have helped many businesses cut their costs, so you can pick the right one for yours.
